THE WEATHER.

Forecast till Thursday morning: Rain or snow, preceded by fair in eastern portion. Cooler.

LOCAL.

—W. B. Piper, formerly of this city, was here Saturday.

—F. O. Root was in the city a few hours Tuesday of this week.

—Dr. S. J. Crumblin has returned from his visit to Cincinnati, Ohio.

—Passenger trains from the west arrive every once-in-a-while now days.

—Remember the GLOBE-REPUBLICAN has been reduced in price to $1.50 per year.

The editor of the Dodge City Times spent several days in Kansas City last week.

—Capt. Henry Booth was in the city Saturday and Sunday in the interest of the Soldiers' home.

—Since the weather has cleared up the excavation work on the school house foundation is again progressing.

—Miss Una Slaven, of Dodge City, has been visiting for some time with her sister Mrs. E. F. Bogart.—Spearville Blade.

—Cimarron had a session of the "Deer-trick Skule" Saturday night. From the tone of the Echo, we guess they rather liked it.

—We learn that Guy Ferrier had his eye removed on last Saturday in Topeka, where he had gone for treatment.—Spearville Blade.

—The county jail is now without a prisoner. This fact, however, is not so much to the credit of the sheriff as it is to an honest judge and jury.

—Fred Martin has opened a shop in the Kelly opera house block, where he will supply the trade with all kinds of sausages and sausage meats. Give him a call.

—The city council authorized the city attorney to engage the services of Judge C. N. Sterry to assist in the defense of the case of Able vs. The City of Dodge City, pending in the United States court.

—The Santa Fe fast express left the track at Hollis, Colorado, Friday morning, being delayed about ten hours. An open switch was the cause of the accident. No damage was done, and nobody injured.

—L. W. Cherington arrived in the city last week, and on Saturday removed his family to their future home at Taylor, Texas. Mr. Cherington is employed as freight conductor on the M. K. & T. railroad.

—At the last meeting of the city council the committee on water works recommended the laying of a water main on Avenue C, from Spruce to Vine streets, also for the location of a fire plug on the corner of Vine street and avenue C.

—A walk was put down at the crossing of Cedar and Bridge streets last week. A much needed improvement. Other crossings could be made more passable in the same way. Our city is well supplied with good walks except at the crossings.

—"Looking Backward" has attracted so much attention throughout the entire country that we will open our columns to any person who desires to offer a criticism. We have the promise of one or more contributions which will appear in our next issue.

—If you have anything to sell, or desire to buy anything and lack a buyer, or don't know where to buy what you want, make your wishes known in a five line local in the GLOBE-REPUBLICAN, and our word for it you will be benefited. It will only cost you a quarter of a dollar.

—Mrs. F. G. Prouty nee Miss Maggie Herbert, formerly of this city, recently died in Topeka with typhoid fever.—Ford Gazette.

Mr. Prouty was formerly a resident of Dodge City and has many acquaintances who will sympathize with him in his sad bereavement.

—Many people from the surrounding towns on the Santa Fe and Rock Island roads will visit Dodge City next Monday to hear the Gilmore concert. Last Saturday twenty-five reserved seat tickets were sold to Kinsley, and thirty-five to Meade Center, besides as many more to other points.

—An exchange truthfully says that when a man gets married he will pay the minister from $2 to $10, or if one of his family dies he will pay the minister for preaching the funeral, put the poor printer will write up a nice marriage notice, and within one year from the time the minister pronounces them man and wife, he will speak of the births, and then if they should get sick, he will tell everybody about that, and if you should die he will speak about that, and in the next issue comes out a long obituary notice and closes up with a card of thanks, and does not even get as much as a fried cake.

—Home made mince meat at the Delmonico. Try it and you will say it is the finest you ever eat, 12 1-2 cents per pound.

—The senior editor Sundayed with his family in this city.

BORN.—To Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Shinn, Friday, November 15th, 1889, a daughter.

—To-day trains are running somewhere near on time. Thanks to the elements.

—Elsewhere in this issue will be found Gov. Humphrey's Thanksgiving proclamation.

—The greater portion of Saturday afternoon was indulged in by our sports in fighting chickens.

—Read the advertisements in this issue. The merchant who advertises is the one to deal with.

—D. L. Sweeney, commander of Lewis Post, G. A. R., went to Topeka yesterday afternoon on business.

—Mr. Noah Hardy, of Jetmore, one of Judge Vandiverts staunch supporters in Hodgeman county, was in the city Monday.

—A Choral Society would be the proper thing just now. Here is a chance for some of our many musical people to distinguish themselves.

—We welcome "Occasional" as one of our new correspondents. He strikes the key note when he says, "fenced farms and free range."

—L. G. Groberty returned to this city last Friday from Oklahoma, where he had been ever since the opening up of that country. He now has charge of Webster & Bond's drug store.

—W. H. Gebhardt, chief clerk of secretary of state's office, Topeka, spent Monday at the GLOBE-REPUBLICAN sanctum. "Geb." is one of the best boys in this grand republican state, and is always welcome at this ranch.

—L. Sims, of Dodge City, is in our city looking up business interests. He has fixed up winter quarters for about 100 head of stock. He and his son John are engaged quite extensively in the live stock business.—Fowler Graphic.

—One of the most needed street improvements in the city is a crossing on Railroad avenue from the court house to the Central House corner. In wet weather it is impossible to cross at this place without wading ankle deep in mud.

—Mr. J. H. Laine, general business manager for Gilmore, was in the city Monday of this week looking after the interests of the company he represents, and seeing that the proper arrangements had been made to entertain Gilmore and his company. Mr. Laine is a very clever gentleman.

—The Ladies' Aid Society of the M. E. church will serve dinner and supper on Thanksgiving day in the Sturms building on 1st avenue, corner of Chestnut St. The most elaborate arrangements have been made to entertain all who may come with an old time Thanksgiving dinner. Price of either dinner or supper 25 cents, children at reduced rates.

—Harry L. Hubbard, who had been connected with the postoffice in this city for the past three years resigned his position as assistant under Postmaster Deardoff the last of October and left last Friday afternoon for Fort Smith, Arkansas, where he has secured a good position. Mr. Hubbard is a sober and industrious young man, and we wish him success in his new field of labor.

—Rev. Dr. McGerald, of Buffalo, N. Y., editor of the Christian Advocate published in that city will lecture in the M. E. church Thursday evening. He is a lecturer of ability having lectured at Chautauqua for ten or twelve years. Let everybody come. No admittance fee will be charged.

His subject will be "An Inside view of Roman Catholicism." He speaks from experience. His lecture is highly instructive and not offensive to Roman Catholics themselves.

—Dan Rodgers, well known in this city, was here Friday visiting friends before taking his departure to Texas. Mr. Rodgers and partner were awarded the contract for the cut stone work on a union depot building at Dallas, Texas. Dan is an expert at his trade and has worked on some of the leading public buildings in the west. In this city he cut all the stone that went into the City Hall and the Western Kansas College. He also had the contract for the Ness County Bank building, said to be one of the finest bank structures in the state.

—The ladies of the W. C. T. U. sent to this office for publication a lengthy petition, signed by many citizens, petitioning the board of county commissioners to release one John Boland from the confines of our county jail. We did not see fit to publish said petition for the reason that it was of no particular interest to the public, and for the further reason that the prayer of the petitioners had already been granted and officially published. Had there been any opposition to the release of the young man, we would willingly have given the petition space in our columns. The GLOBE-REPUBLICAN does not wish to have it said that its columns are closed to the W. C. T. U., but on the contrary will receive contributions from them as gladly as from any other source, provided it is of sufficient public interest to demand publication.

—Joseph Walker, of the Sawlog neighborhood, was charged before the probate court with being insane and the hearing had on yesterday. The jury found him not insane, however, and he was discharged with a short lecture on good habits and behaviour.

—Rev. J. M. Wright will deliver two discourses on "The Immortality of the Soul," in the Presbyterian church; the first on next Sabbath morning from the text "If a man die, shall he live again?" Job 14-14. The second on the following Sabbath morning, from Ecclesiastes 12-7 and Matthew 22-32: "The spirit shall return unto God who gave it," and "God is not the God of the dead but of the living." You are cordially invited to attend these services.

What we Would Like to See.

Our college filled with several hundred students.

Our State Soldiers' Home filled with worthy old soldiers, for whom it was intended.

Our city flouring mills connected with a good large sugar mill built on the roaster process.

More interest manifested by our people in getting manufacturing establishments in our city.

A demand on our railroad companies to give us a cheaper rate on fuel, and have it granted.

The construction of the Omaha, Dodge City & Southern railroad to begin at once.

The people in the city and county pay more attention to tree planting.

We would like to see an entertainment given for the benefit of our poor. Who will take the initiatory step and see that this is done?

Teachers' Meetings.

The teachers of our city schools have been holding regular semi-monthly meetings for some time past. In addition to the discussion of topics pertaining to the management of our schools, they have studied and discussed "Education" by Herbert Spencer, and "Brook's Mental Science." They are now engaged in the study and investigation of the principles which underlie the art of teaching reading. It is encouraging to know that our teachers are not content with present results in the teaching of this branch, and that they are determined to revive the work in this direction—bringing it in harmony with the "Science of Education." The last meeting was an especially interesting one and the subject of reading is continued for consideration at the next meeting, when the following outline will form the basis of discussion: A few of the principles of the "Science of Education."

First. The primitive source of all our knowledge is sensation. We receive impressions through the sensory organs, and arranged in groups they form ideas. Second. New ideas are formed, the mind develops, logically proceeding from the known to the unknown, from the concrete to the abstract.

Third. It is what the learner does for himself, not what is done for him, that educates him.

Fourth. It is only clear, conscious knowledge that becomes a permanent possession of the learner's mind. Words without ideas are not knowledge to him.

Fifth. Memory is the result of attention. Attention is largely dependent upon interest, and interest in a subject and a love for it are almost synonymous terms.

The art of teaching, the methods employed, must be in harmony with the above principles, and as a result we have the following problems.

First. What can be done by the teacher to stimulate the child to observe, to investigate and thus to acquire a valuable stock of primitive ideas. Principle First.

Second. How adapt our teaching to principal second? "Words are the vehicles of thought." Use words that the pupil will understand, lead to the discovery of a principle and encourage the pupil to formulate a rule in his own language.

Third. Why is knowledge that the pupil gains himself more valuable to him? What other reason for this principle? How induce a pupil to make the necessary effort to educate himself? In what way is this principle commonly violated by the teacher?

Fourth. What is meant by a clear, definite, conscious knowledge? What is the effect upon the mind of knowledge possessed in a mystified imperfect state? What method must be used to induce pupils to add rapidly to their stock of conscious knowledge?

Fifth. How develop in pupils a love of study—create an interest—gain the power of attention, and strengthen the memory as well as the other faculties of the mind?

At our next meeting the above principles and problems are to be discussed with special reference to the teaching of reading.

The subject of supplementary reading will also be considered, and the following outline will serve as a basis of discussion:

First. Estimate of the books now in use and how to use them.

Second. Should their use be supplemented by other reading matter?

Third. Of what should such supplementary matter consist?

Fourth. How shall it be obtained?

Friends of our schools are invited to attend and take part in the discussions. Meeting next Saturday at 9:00 a. m.

OBITUARY.

Little Hattie May Jastatt was born November 18, 1884, and died November 16th 1889. She was five years old lacking two days. Of a sweet and sunny nature, full of life and hope, she was the joy of her parents hearts, the sunshine of the home. Just old enough to begin to ask the questions that puzzle older minds, such as, "Mamma, who is God?" "If I should die, what would I do in Heaven?" "Mamma, when I go to Heaven will I have wings like an angel?" We cannot tell when these thoughts first reached our little ones, and we sometimes are startled at their questions. But these are intimations of the immortality within us, even in the childish nature. We wonder sometimes why our little ones are taken from us, and our hearts are inexpressibly sad. But then we know we are spared from the trouble, sorrow and sin of this world. We know that in heaven there is neither sin nor sorrow; and Jesus says of children, "of such is the Kingdom of Heaven," and the Bible teaches us that though we cannot call them back to us, "we can go to them."

Here we could only enjoy their society for a few brief years, there an eternity of happiness awaits the reunited family. Parents, you have two strong ties in heaven, Hattie May and Ada Marion; grieve not as those who have no hope, but lean upon him "who gave," and "upon him who hath taken away." Set your goal high in the heavens, and upward press toward it, by grace divine, and meet the little ones gone before. "I am the resurrection and the life; he that believeth in me, though he were dead, yet shall he live." We pray God to comfort the hearts of these his mourning children, that "behind a frowning providence," they soon "may see a smiling face."

J. M. WRIGHT, Pastor.

Forest Tree Distribution.

Kansas Farmer.

Hon. Martin Allen, Commissioner of Forestry, sends in the following circular to be published for general information:

Residents of the state of Kansas wishing to secure a share of the seedling trees for free distribution at the Kansas State Forestry Stations at Ogallah, Trege county, and Dodge City, Ford county, should carefully fill out the following blank applications, and return the same to me at either of the above-named places or to Hays City, Kansas, for spring delivery, not later than March 1st, 1890.

MARTIN ALLEN,

Commissioner of Forestry.

The blank is forwarded to persons on application to the commissioner. It ought to be attended to at once so as not to be delayed in the spring. Address him a postal card, asking for blank order. Kansas farmers can get trees cheap now.

"Crab shooting is epidemic and is more demoralizing than any gambling institution ever established. Young and old are charmed with its fleeting allurements and invariably get entangled in its meshes. One youth with a pair of dice does more mischief than a hundred so-called joints, and yet these pests ply their games openly, unmolested by civic authorities."—Kansas Catholic.

REMOVED!

THE EXCELSIOR LAUNDRY has removed to Fourth Avenue, south of the railroad, where I can be found at all times prepared to do first-class laundry work. Work called for and delivered free of charge.
